

Fuel Tax Credits

Does your business use fuel?

Unclaimed fuel tax credits can result in your business paying too much tax

Who can you contact?

Suzi Russell
Partner
Sydney
+61 (2) 8266 1057
suzi.russell@au.pwc.com

Darryl Daisley
Executive Director
Perth
+61 (8) 9238 3341
darryl.daisley@au.pwc.com

Michelle Sawade
Senior Manager
Adelaide
+61 (8) 8218 7492
michelle.sawade@au.pwc.com

Gary Dutton
Director
Brisbane
+61 (7) 3257 8783
gary.dutton@au.pwc.com

Bill Cole
Director
Melbourne
+61 (3) 8603 6043
bill.cole@au.pwc.com

Most businesses are not maximising their fuel tax credits on fuel used in their operations.

Could your business be paying too much fuel tax?

An independent review can help ensure that your business is not missing out on any available cash savings.

Our team has reviewed:

- Mining companies
- Electricity generators and retailers
- Civil contractors
- Heavy transportation businesses
- Marine transport, and
- A variety of other businesses

Your business may be entitled to a cash refund from the ATO

Recent cash wins for our clients:

Our team of fuel tax experts recently reviewed the operations of a dredging company and identified unclaimed fuel tax credits of over $2 million.

Although the business was already claiming fuel tax credits, certain record keeping practices and misunderstandings about eligibility requirements resulted in a significant under claim.

Carbon Pollution Reduction Scheme (CPRS)

In some industries, the CPRS may result in a change to the amount of fuel tax credits that can be claimed by businesses.

Although the CPRS may not be implemented for some time, it is worthwhile considering the changes now as CPRS will affect the cost of fuel to your business in the future, including fuel associated with your business' long-term contracts.